That's because the old recall numbers have been deactivated because they have been superseded as we have some units that have not had the old recalls performed b the newest Recall needs to be performed. I was advised that you will need to use the U-bolt Flat Rate Code - 130001 and you MUST provide all the required information,

Thank you

Hello,

What is the code I should use for the work already done per the old recall? When I type in the recall nothing comes up.

Thanks

Good morning Alix,

Ok, so Recall 910054 is a new Recall that supersedes 910039 & 910042. If your saying that you have completed the previous recalls before they were superseded the for that work, using a basic flat rate code. Now as far as the new recall it has different instructions and parts so that will need to be completed again submitting a pre at Please see the Dealer Portal for the new instructions.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Good afternoon,

I am trying to enter a PA for two recalls, but I cannot find the labor code for the u-bolt recall. When I created the PA, I got a notification that the recall was for this unit, but no labor codes were provided. Please advise which labor code I should use.

Thanks,
