COMPLAINT: WARRANTY ITEM

CAUSE: 1004 ISSUE CAUSED BY AC control board has 12 V and ground in and no 12 V out to the thermostat

CORRECTION: I pulled the thermostat from the wall check for voltage no voltage found I pulled the return air grill off the ceiling assembly and tested the connections for the thermostat and there was no power there either. I contacted Lippert and was told that as long as I have 12 V into the controller and nothing out the controller is bad and needs to be replaced.

Will have to order the new controller remove the ceiling assembly and wire all the 12 V connections and 120 V connections rewire the new one plug everything in and test function

Remove control board from This unit previously to install into a sold unit in order to restore that unit to operational condition. At that time this unit was left in operative pending arrival of replacement component. Replacement control board arrived and was installed into this unit. Disconnected power, completed installation, and verify all wiring connections were properly secure and correctly routed. Restored power and performed for function normal testing. Verified AC operation with proper compressor engagement and airflow. Tested all fan speeds low, medium, and my -with correct operation.Switch to heat mode and confirmed heater function and output. Unit is now fully operational and restored to proper working condition after installation of replacement control board
