Job #1 - Warranty

COMPLAINT: LP DOES NOT READ

CAUSE: I found that the wires were crossed on the molex plug going to the LP tank from the monitor panel.

CORRECTION: I unscrewed the refrigerator. I removed the monitor panels from the wall. I twisted the refrigerator inside the refrigerator cavity. This allowed me to get access to the plugs inside the wall. I pulled the monitor plug out of the wall on the solar charge controller side. I found that the LP tank monitor wiring was a orange wire and a white wire. They had been wired wrong in the molex plug. I removed the 2 pins from the plug and flipped them to match the wiring on the other side of the plug. Now the monitor panel works as it should. I reinstalled the monitor panels in the wall and screwed the fridge back in place.

COMPLAINT: SEWER FLUSH IS LEAKING REALLY BAD

CAUSE: Black tank flusher was never hooked up to tank

CORRECTION: I found that the pipe going to the black tank was about 1 inch to short to use a 90 degree elbow to hook up the pipe to the tank. I was able to use 2 fittings together to get the pipe to reach. I installed a 90 degree threaded elbow in the tank and then I clamped a straight pex fitting to the pipe. I was then able to thread the 2 new fittings together. Tested tank flusher and it works as it should with no leaks.

Job #7 - Warranty

COMPLAINT: WHEN THE GEN IS RUNNING THE METAL HANGER FOR THE EXHAUST IS BEATING AGAINST THE FIBER GLASS

CAUSE: The lower bolt was screwed into a piece of trim. Upper bolt was screwed into foam.

CORRECTION: I found that the upper bolt could not be tightened. There was nothing to screw to other than foam. I added a backer plate and screwed the exhaust hanger to it. This will add several more screw anchor points to prevent it from falling out or coming loose.
