COMPLAINT: THE BALL COUPLER WILL NOT LATCH ALL THE WAY DOWN TO THE LOCKED POSITION

CAUSE: Coupler is difficult to latch

CORRECTION: Received the new coupler and checked for damage. Pulled off the lp tank cover. Disconnected the lp lines from the lp tanks then unbolted the lp tanks and set to the side. Moved the 7way plug out of the way. Raised the camper up and set on jack stands and unbolted the tongue jack. Got a grinder and cut thru the welds of the factory coupler, then peeled off the coupler. Cleaned up the frame by grinding away the welds. Set the new coupler in place and put a weld tac from the frame to the coupler. After checking the coupler for alignment then welded the coupler to the frame. After the coupler had cooled down sprayed a light coat of black paint on the coupler and applied 2 more coats after that. After the paint was dry, bolted the jack to the coupler. Set the lp tanks back on the tongue and connected the lp lines and bolted down the tanks. Set the lp tank cover back on. Checked the latch on the coupler to make sure it still functions as it should.
